

Emotional Support / Psychiatric Service Animal

Allegiant is happy to transport emotional support and psychiatric service animals in the aircraft cabin. In an effort to ensure optimum safety for you, your animal, and all our customers, we require customers present three fully completed forms to an Allegiant representative at least 45 minutes prior to scheduled departure at the ticket counter or at the gate counter.

Required Documents:

- Form 1 – Veterinary Health
Must be fully completed by your veterinarian
- Form 2 – Mental Health Professional Form
Must be fully completed by your mental health professional or a medical physician treating you for an emotional or mental disability
- Form 3 – Animal Behavior & Responsibility Form
Must be fully completed by the passenger

Additional Information:

- Customer may travel with one (1) emotional support animal or three (3) trained service animals
- Allegiant only accepts domestic dogs, cats and miniature horses
